So, at last, the weather was "right" for the course, and so the really fast times appeared. First the Arctic Premier squad took a minute off the course record, and then the Shorter Rochford trio removed more than another minute. With the defending champions Sigma Sport fitting in the middle, we had the top three teams all riding faster than the previous benchmark.

With yet another record entry, we're now terrifyingly near to the double maximum of 80 teams, and the prospect of returning entries. Can we have exactly 80 teams in 2010 please?

As ever, I was helped enormously on the day by a whole army of marshals, pushers-off, timekeepers, caterers and many others. Quite clearly, the success of the afternoon's promotion is crucially linked to those people, and I'm enormously grateful to you all.

Many thanks go also to Brian Phillips of Cobham Antennas for kindly sponsoring the race once again, allowing the quite stellar prize list!

There were, unfortunately, a few stories of riders hitting the deck, for various reasons. Please be vigilant when you're out there, and be sure to concentrate on more than just following wheels...

I was delighted to secure the services of Sarah Brooke as our Official Photographer, and the gallery relating to the race is available for viewing at the address below. According to Facebook, Sarah doesn't go much on ironing, but she certainly bakes a mean cake, and I'm consuming one of her finest as I type. Please forgive any crumbs in the text.

See you all next year – gulp!

Ralph

This team had several problems shortly after starting, and so are a DNF. However, they persuaded the timekeeper to give them another try, and they recorded the above times.

So, exactly who was working hard, to make sure everything went smoothly? Without these kind people, it wouldn't have happened.

And finally...

For those of you who would consider riding a 100 mile TT, Gordon Hart is pleased to announce that the F1 100 mile course for 2009 will be the fastest version for at least 10 years. He's designed a course which uses the A1 for the first 85 miles, before using A421 for the remainder. It will surely be a BBAR "must ride". It will be used by the North Middlesex & Herts CA for their promotion on Sunday 19th July.
